ITS EFFECT UPON HORSES AND CONDENSED MILK

The third annual Ensilage Congress of American farmers was held yesterday afternoon at No. 55 Heekman-st. The object of the annual congress is the comparison of the results of the year by those interested in the ensilage theory. Nearly one hundred farmers were present representing every part of the country and a l branches of the agricultural interest. On the table were numerous specimens of ensilage, including ensilaged corn, and butter from the milk of ensilage-fed cows. Dr. A. S. Heath, of this city, presided, and J. B. Brown, in whose office the meeting was held, acted as secretary.

whose office the meeting was held, acted as score-tary.

Professor Manly Miles, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, discussed the causes of acidity in ensilage. He said in part:

Chemical analysis has furnished results so diverse that it is entirely unsatisfactory. Falling back upon blology, we find ferments classified under two heads—the soluble, which are consumed in their own activity; and the true ferments, as in alcoholic fermentation and putrefaction, which have been proved to be microscopic organisms. Ensilage fermentation is of the latter class. Minute hacteria take the carbon from the ensilage and leave the residuum to undergo chemical change. The problem is to kill these bacteria. My own experiments have proved that kill these bacteria. My own experiments have proved that kill these bacteria. My own experiments have proved that it has be destroyed by a temperature of 115° to 122°. To kill the seeds of the organisms double that temperature is required. Hitherto farmers have been working on a false theory that oxygen must be kept away from the custlage. This a mistake; the more oxygen the better. The oxygen is harmless provided that the air is filtered by heat, so as to exclude the germs. All farmers should keen accurate observations of the temperature when the ensilage is first closed up in the pit, and weekly observations until it is removed, in order that definite rules for work may be attained.

ensinge is into closed, in order that definite rules for work may be attained.

Professor Miles's statement about oxygen was disputed by some of the members as contrary to experience.

A representative was introduced from Theodore Havemeyer's farm at Mahwah, N. J., where for a year the cattle have been fed largely upon ensilage.

He said:

To each of 100 Jersey cows is given twenty pounds of ensilage in the morning, seven pounds of hay at noon, and twenty pounds of ensilage at night. Mixed with the ensilage is one quart of corn-neal and one of ground oats. Under this fodder, the cattle have grown in weight from two to two-and-s-half pounds a day, while expenses have been reduced from $2.40 a ton when ensilage was not fully adopted, to $1.57. Horses are fed on ensilage three times a week, and hogs constantly. No bad results have been experienced on the farm from overfeeding cattle with ensilage.

times a week, and hogs constantly. No bad results have been experienced on the farm from overfeeding cattle with ensilage.

An invitation was extended to the Congress to visit Mr. Havemeyer's farm to-day, which was accepted generally by the members.

Edward Gridley, a farmer in Wassaic, Dutchess County, New-York, described the difficulties of the ensilage farmers with the New-York Condensed Milk Company. In 1880, be said, the first ensilage silo was built in Wassaic. The increased quantity of milk from the ensilage-fed cows excited attention from the Condensed Milk Company, to which it was furnished; but no fault was found until February. 1883, when Mr. Borden refused to receive ensilage ensilage for any of their cattle. The result was that of fifteen silos in operation eight were discontinued, while the other seven ceased to furnish milk to the Borden Company.

Dr. W. S. Tanner, of the same place, confirmed Mr. Gridley's statements. Borden's claim, he said, was not that the milk furnished was bad, but that the condensed milk made from it would not keep. In view of these statements, the Congress adouted a resolution calling upon the Department of Agriculture to analyze ensilage milk and compare it with the analysis of other milk, publishing the result. Dr. Tanner then said that after breaking with the Borden Company he put on his farm 100 steers for market. To each of them twenty pounds of ensilage was fed twice a day, with six pounds of grain at noon. During the month of December the average gain in weight was seventy pounds each, one gaining 125 pounds in fifty days.

The question was put as to whether ensilage feed was injurious to horses. On this opinions differed was injurious to horses. On this opinions differed one gaining 125 pounds in fifty days.

The question was put as to whether ensilage feed was injurious to horses. On this opinions differed materially. Dr. Baxter, a Virginia farmer, gave as lns experience that ensilage was fatal to horses, either from deranged stomachs or other causes. Henry Goodwill, of Wassaic, N. Y., said that he had tried the experiment and his horse had thrived under it. Another New York farmer said that he had fed ensilaged o mules with good results. One of the directing farmers of Frederick Bronson's farm, Greenfield Hill, Conn., stated that out of ten horses fed on ensilage eight had died, while the same ensilage had been beneficial to the cows. The general opinion of the Congress appeared to be that its use for horses was not safe. Except in the matter of the Condensed Milk Company, the ensilage farmers report themselves successful during the past year. The only complaints against the milk have been made in cases where the cows were fed immediately before milking, and a change in the hour of feed has rectified this.

THE INDICTMENT OF THOMAS P. WALSH. A LEADING MEMBER OF THE COUNTY DEMOCRACY CHARGED WITH KEEPING A GAMBLING-HOUSE, CHARGED WITH KEEFING A GAMBLING-ROUSE.

District-Attorney Olney's recent statement that he should do everything possible to suppress gambling in the city has not apparently created any alarm in the rooms of the New-Amsterdam Club. Commissioner Hubert O. Thompson is the principal figure in that club, in the rooms of which at night he makes his political headquarters. Among the prominent members is Thomas P. Walsh, otherwise known as "Fatty" Walsh, who is the County Democracy leader in the Hd Assembly District, and one of Mr. Thompson's "right-hand men." Walsh was Mr. Thompson's "right-hand men." Walsh was Mr. Thompson's nominee for Alderman in the Hd District at the last election, and was defeated by William P. Kirk, the Taumany candidate, by only two votes, He alleges that Kirk was "counted in" only two votes. He alleges that Kirk was "counted in."

Walsh is a well-known associate of gamblers, and the reputed owner at various times of gamblers, and the reputed owner at various times of gambling dens. On September 19, 1882, District-Attorney McKeon secured the indictment of Walsh for "keeping and exhibiting gambling devices and apparatus at No. 40 Bowery." The chief witness was Marks Hunwitz, who swore that oft Angust S. 1882, at the piace named, "Thomas P. Walsh did unlawfully and feloniously deal the game called faro, and did then and there, within the space of twenty-four hours, win from deponent eight dollars at said game, and that on the said premises are exhibited, kept and used by John Green and Thomas P. Walsh, faro and other gameling tables, decks, cards, devices and apparatus for the purpose of gambling, the discovery of which would tend to establish the truth of the charge herein made."

Among the supporters of Mr. Thompson at the time was Assistant District-Attorney John O'Byrne. In his handwriting on the back of the indictment is the following:

The sergeant tells me the witness cannot be found.

With this indorsement on the indictment it was carefully stuck away among a mass of old papers and other indictments that had been tried in the office of the Clerk of the General Sessions Court. Hidden away there where it did not belong before Mr. Olney came in the office, it was not likely ever to be acted upon, especially as the clerk had no record of it and only discovered it by mere accident after inquiry by a TRIBUNE reporter. Mr. Walsh, however, has since that time been an active supporter of Mr. Thompson both in this city and at Siate Conventions.

BODIES LONG UNBURIED.

The police informed the Sanitary Superintendent on Tuesday that the bodies of two children, Katie Greenwald and Florence Bush, who died frem scarlet fever and diphtheria in the tenement house No. 698 Water-st., on Saturday, remained inburied. Sanitary inspectors, who were sent to the house, learned that two other children were sick on the first and second floors. The parents of the dead children bad not been able to get money enough to bury the bodies, but they objected strenuously to the proposal of the inspectors to bury them in the city geneticity at the public expense. They promised that the bodies should be buried at 4 p. m., but when the inspectors returned to the house in the evening the bodies were still there. Much sympathy was expressed for the poor families, and money enough was procured yesterday to bury the body of Florence Bush in the Calvary Cemetery. Mr. Greenwald said that he had lost hope of being able to defray the expenses of a funeral and the body of his child was removed by the inspectors. The sick children in the building were permitted to remain, bift the rooms and bedding were carefully disinecuted.

SUCCESSFULLY TRACKED BY A BOY.

At the Tombs Police Court yesterday Conrad Flint and his wife, Pauline, each lifty years of age, were charged with grand larceny. The complainant was Charles Krattle, a bright lad of lifteen, whose home is at Mahanoy City, Pennsylvania, where Conrad was formerly employed in a coal mine. A few days ago the accused couple were in a store kept by the lad's parents, and after they had gone $765, which had been stowed away in a cupboard, was missing. The couple were suspected of having taken the money, as they immediately started for this city. The lad followed Mr. and Mrs. Flint, and found them yesterday morning in a boarding house at No. 12 Greenwich-st. The boy called at the Church Street Police Station and gave information of his case, and the couple were arrested. With the exception of a small amount, the sum stolen was found in their possession. The husband denied all knowledge of the theft, but his wife declined to say auything. The prisoners were remanded until to-day.

MAINTAINING THE SCHOOLS.

DIVIDING UP THE APPROPRIATION.

ALLOTTING THE SUMS FOR SALARIES, EVENING SCHOOLS, TRUANCY AGENTS, SUPPLIES, ETC. The Board of Education yesterday appropriated for various purposes the sum of $4,431,950 granted for this year's expenses by the Board of Estimate. The Finance Committee recommended that $2,525,000 should be set aside for the salaries of teachers in the grammar and primary schools. Last year $2,462,868 81 was paid.

$2.462.868 81 was paid.

Mr. Devoe—Why should there be an increase this year of $62,9001 I move that it be made $2,510,000.

The reduction of $15,000 was made. Mr. Devoe spoke against increasing the janitors' salaries $5,000 over last year, but was unable to secure a reduction from the $110,000 recommended. Mr. Wood, the champion of the Normal College, was presiding over the Coumittee of the Whole when the salary item for the Normal College was discussed. Last year for this purpose $94,212 13 was expended; $98,000 was asked in the budget for 1884. The Finance Committee reduced that item $3,000, and Mr. Wood moved that it be made $96,500.

Mr. Weiker—Allow me to suggest that the chairman is

Mr. Walker-Allow me to suggest that the chairman is

Mr. Waiker—Anow not o suggested and of order.

Mr. Wetmore—To accommodate Mr. Wood, I make the motion that it be $96,500.

Mr. Schiff—I move that it be $94,500.

The resolutions of Mr. Schiff and Mr. Wetmore were both lost and $95,000 was agreed upon. The evening schools last year cost $80,382 71 for teachers and janitors. Mr. Beardslee asked for $83,000 this year.

Mr. Devoe—I move that it be made $$1,000. I think $$0,000 is sufficient for these schools.

When that motion was lost he made another fixing the sum at $$2,000 and this motion was carried. The salary of the truzney agents caused a long discussion and it was decided to devote $12,150 to this department, the $150 being for "incidentals."

Mr. Belden—I am in layor of reducing this amount as much as possible. If there is no room for the children when found by the truzney agents, why employ them?

Mr. Crawford—This department should have $14,500, the sum named in the budget.

Mr. Belden—The Solons at Albany say we must have this department, but let us keep this expense down.

Mr. Kelly—Why have these agents uptown? It is an absurdity. They could be used downtown effectively. The City Superintendent should place them where they will do the most good.

Mr. Walker—I am opposed to giving $14,500, although the agents are paid too small salaries. We had better leave the figure where it is and then have the herote courage to have the twelve agents draw lobs and let eight of them remain and receive $1,500 each. If we carried out this compulsory law in all its details it would cost $100,000 a year, and another $100,000 to build a school-house for them.

For supplies last year $119,590.08 was paid and about $7,000 additional was taken from the stock of books, etc., on hand. This year $155,000 was the original item, which was reduced by the Finance Committee to $130,000. Mr. Tamsen, the chairman of the Committee on Supplies, wished it made $140,000.

Mr. Belden—I would like to see this Board put its foot down on this matter of supplies. When I was on the Supply Committee we were treated almost with contempt because we inquired into the demands made for supplies. There is virtually no limit to the supplies ordered by some principals. If we appropriate a large sum it will all be spent.

Mr. Wetmore—It is not a fact that principals can order principals. If we appropriate a large sum it will as spent.

Mr. Wetmore—It is not a fact that principals can order supplies at pleasure.

The matter was compromised by $135,000 being appropriated for supplies. The gas bill last year was $20,900 84. This year $18,000 was asked of the Board of Estimate; $22,000 fixed by the Finance Committee, and $21,000 appropriated by the Board. The other items were passed without much discussion; $3,403,600 being appropriated for certain purposes; $278,350 retained as a reserve fund, and $750,000 held for sites and new buildings.

SWINDLING A FAMILY OF EMIGRANTS.

Margaretha Schneider, age sixteen, who arrived from Germany with her mother and brother and sister on the steamship Salier on Monday, filed affidavits with the Emigration Board yesterday that she was approached by a stranger in the rotunda at Castle Garden, on Monday night, who represented himself as proprietor of the Sun Hotel, No. 532 Pearl-st., and requested that she and her family would go to the hotel. She said that she was in search of her uncle, Peter Schneider, when the stranger assured her that he was living next to the hotel, and that he would take them there without charge. The family declined to go, and later in the evening one of the employes at Castle Garden brought them a card with the uncle's name upon it and said he was outside and wanted to see Margarella. She went out and met a man who said that he had been sent by the uncle to bring them to him. After some hesitation the family went with the stranger, who took them to the hotel in Pearl-st., saying that the uncle could not give them room to sleep. They were then taken out to a corner store, where they were shown a man who represented himself as Peter Schneider, and upon its being renounced as an uncle he told them that they were in safe hands. They returned to the Sun Hotel and demanded their bill, as they did not wish to remain over-night; they were charged $4 for six cups of coffee and some potatoes and meat. Margaretha identified Joseph Kreiling as the man who took them to the hotel. The Castle Garden Committee will investigate the matter to-day. SWINDLING A FAMILY OF EMIGRANTS.

STABBED BY A SCHOOL-MATE.

When the boys at Dr. D. A. Holbrook's military school at Sing-Sing were going through their customary drill on Tuesday morning, a quarrel broke out between two of the cadets, William Massic and J. A. McIlhenny. The cause was trifling. Massic accused McIlhenny of crowding him, and threatened to obtain satisfaction by hitting him in the face, if he did not desist, The dispute was carried on in an undertone and did not attract the attention of the drill-master. The two beys agreed to "have it out" in the gymnasium in the usual school boy fashion, thither they adjourned when the drill was over, accompanied by a number of their friends, who were glad enough to attend a fight in which they were called upon to participate only as spectators, McHenry took off his coat; Massic kept his on. This disregard of the usual preliminaries of a pugilistic encounter did not excite suspicion, but Massic's motive was afterwards made apparent. The two boys began to belabor each other with hearty good will, Massic getting the worst of it, when suddenly a knife gleamed in the latter's hand, and before the spectators could interfere he had stabbed McHenry with it twice, wounding him in the right arm and the breast. The two were then separated. McHenry's wounds were dressed by Dr. G. E. Fisher, who pronounced them not serious unless inflammation should ensue. Massic is from Kentucky, and McHenry from Tennessee. Massic was expelled from the school and sent home.

Slush, mad and misery were the three results of sleighing yesterday. Many an owner of fast horses and neat cutters went out in the afternoon with fair hopes and a whiteovercoat, and came home with the first dispelled and the latter bespattered. Notwit standing this, however, there were numbers of sleighs on upper Seventh and Jerome aves., and there were also many pretty little brushes of speed between horses that had never met before, and would in all probability never meet again. In Seventh-ave, there was a spirited race from One-hundred-and-forty-fifth-st, to Kearns Hotel for a purse of $50, to be divided between the first three horses. The animals entered were R. S. Slage's bay mare Grace S. W. S. Lane's bay gelding Billy; "Dan" Shay's team of Punch and Judy, Mr. Smith's bay gelding Mystery, and J. Walker's bay gelding Arthur T. The third heat was declared void and a fourth was trotted. Grace S. won the second and fourth heats and Billy won the first heat. The third heats and Billy won the first heat. The third prize was won by the team Punch and Judy. The ice in the Harlem Mere and the great lake in Central Park was in excellent condition. The surfaces of both were crowded all day long.

Three cases of small-pox have been developed in the Long Island College Hospital, in Brooklyn, from infection caused by Gioacchino Anastasio, a sailor on the bark Giovannina, who was admitted to the hospital on January 9, when his true disease was not known. He had been brought past Quarantine, and the vessel lay at the Atlantic Dock. Anastasio's disease was discovered the day after he was admitted to the hospital, and he was taken to the Small-pox Hospital in Flatbush. Every precaution was taken to prevent the spread of the disease, the building being thoroughly lumigated, and patients were removed from the ward where the sick man had been. So far only three cases of the disease have developed, and they were removed to the Small-pox Hospital. The captain of the bark is under arrest for concealing the disease at Quarantine.

NEW TELESCOPIC FIRE LADDERS.

The Fire Commissioners and Chief Engineer Bates went to Philadelphia on Tuesday to inspect a Hayes hook and ladder truck. They said yesterday that they intended to purchase one or more of the trucks for use in New-York. The chief feature of the Hayes truck is a telescopic ladder, which can be raised on it quickly and moved in any direction on a turn-table. The Commissioners have instructed their secretary to write to Governor Cleveland, requesting him to make the presentation of the Bennett and Stephenson medals to firemen on June 12.

The bark Batavia, which arrived from Hollo yesterday, encountered a furious hurricane south of Cape Hatteras on last Friday. She sprang a leak and the water rushed into the forward part of the vessel making her unmanageable. The hatches were taken off and after throwing overboard 300 mats of sugar the leak was found and temporary repairs were made so that she was kept affoat by working at the pumps. The schooner Luclia, from Mexico, encountered the same hurricane, and shipped several heavy seas that swept the decks and filled the torward deck-house.
